

Kathryn received her BA from Long Island University in Interdisciplinary Studies. Later, she completed her MA in Education and teacher certification through Prescott College.

Her interests lie in an interdisciplinary approach to agricultural education. Kathryn served as a teacher's aid in various classrooms in California before she came to Skyview as a student teacher. She has a love for learning and teaching through the multiple intelligences as well as projects-based instruction.

