

Since the 2008-2009 school year, Sarah has been Skyview School's Title I Reading teacher. She believes that reading is an integral part of experiencing a full life and aims to make learning fun and well-rounded. Her experience as a mother of two Skyview students, wife (of 11 years), manager in a retail store, and time in the military are a part of her own well-roundedness. She is currently a member of the International Reading Association, Yavapai Reading Council, and a student at Yavapai College.