

Stephanie Griffin – Music Teacher

Stephanie is new to Skyview this year and also new to Arizona. She came to us from Ohio where she taught music in the public schools for four years. Steph graduated from the Baldwin-Wallace College Conservatory of Music where she studied trumpet and received a Bachelors degree in Music Education. After college, she became passionate about a music teaching method called "Orff-Schulwerk." An Orff classroom aims to inspire all types of learners and all kinds of children to express their individuality through music. In music class, we will create, play instruments, dance, sing, chant, and improvise. Stephanie is trained in levels I and II of Orff-Schulwerk and will receive her final level of training next summer as part of her Masters program at Prescott College.

When she is not at Skyview teaching music, Stephanie enjoys singing and playing her guitar, banjo, dulcimer, and ukulele. She is looking forward to performing in Prescott and around the community with her band. If Steph is not playing or teaching music somewhere, she is paddling in her kayak, hiking on the trails, playing bike polo, or camping with her schnoodle puppy, Ida.
